

I thank it should stay. When the people pay for something they should get what they pay for. I drive n St Louis, Mo on local runs from time to time an the traffic an weather channel comes n handy. that way I can reroute if I have to. It seems to me that when something is going very well like the xm radio someone has to stir up a hornets nest. I've been a xm listner for about two yrs an I love mine better than regular radio its my partner at all times. one thing it needs is along with the weather channel we need to b kept updated on severe weather when it approches different communties. something like noaa radio to inform us on the spot. thanks for taking the time to read my comments.
